If you're skeptical that a French-American hybrid such as vidal can make a truly great wine, check this out. It first beckons with rosewater-marzipan scents; those lead into a mouthful of flavor as smooth and rich as a spoonful of crème brûlée, the smoky minerality carried through the long finish by vibrant acidity.

Jackson-Triggs 2003 Proprietors' Reserve Icewine Vidal Blanc;

The smaller bottle size makes this perfect for more intimate gatherings. Peach and creamed corn aromas give way to mouthfilling honey flavors.

Jackson-Triggs Vidal Niagara Peninsula Ice Wine Proprietors' Reserve 2003

Pungent and sweet, but without the thick texture. Combines grapefruit, apricot and caramel notes, searing acidity and persistence for a distinctive dessert wine experience. Drink now through 2012.
